Hero, savior, do-gooder with a big chin? Yeah, all of that and a little bit more. Lance Proton and the Space Battalion is an homage, a riff, a satire and a bit of a spoof of old time science fiction radio serials. Using comic talent from The Sterling Renaissance Festival, these little scenes are what happens when talented silly folks get together and decide to put on a show. If you love science fiction, you'll love these shows. And if science fiction drives you nuts, you might like this even more. And for everybody who has ever hated the snotty know-it-all brat who keeps either screwing up or saving the day in every science fiction show...well, you are gonna love our cadets.(Lookout Wesley Crusher, you're next.)
