Sick with different styles he has two solo albums out now, with "Boogie Joe The Grinder" made to be a classic West Coast record with thick funky tracks, deliberately Gee'd up like a "Chronic" Dr. Dre or Snoop Dogg album. (YEAH I SPELLED IT ALBLUM!) Let's not confuse things there are a couple of hip hop cuts on this westside gangster make to make true hiphop heads feel it along with them Cali playas and macks. The other solo out is titled "Joey Dynamite" which was written and produced for the cats that miss and want that old school hiphop. This record has scratchin and beats chopped to perfection similar to D.J. Premiere, Alchemist, Pete Rock with Fat Joe, Nas, Big "L" or Rakim type of flows. This one is takin it back to when this artform was as real as could be. It's not commercial but there is a track soundin like trip-hop and another like drum-n-bass at 184 BPM. It is the fastest rap in the the universe and a sureshot hiphop classic. The world is ready for this. Two platinum European producers and an M.C. that can rhyme in any style there is.
