After awhile, Russell decided to give this unproven guy a shot. And, boy, did he hit it out of the park! Justin became a literal internet marketing wizard. He went from working full time to warning enough money to quit his job. In fact, he did so well, his wife was able to quit her job as a full-time teacher to work with her husband from home! How did he do it? Website flipping! You see, website flipping is the way to make quick money on the internet. You don't have to waste time getting traffic to your site for scrounging up people to do JVs with you. In fact people pay him hundreds to THOUSANDS of dollars to learn how to buy and sell websites. But for the first time, he granted his mentor Russell Brunson one hour-long interview where he grilled Justin on how to make money online as an expert website flipper.
