Details: Jen Doorly is a 22 year old singer-songwriter from Massachusetts. Born in Dublin, Ireland, her first introduction to music was through the celtic harp. She has studied classical harp, piano, and voice and performed with various orchestras, harp ensembles and choirs. She has also musically directed her highschool and university all female a capella groups. She currently sings with the Brown University Ursa Minors. Jen began composing songs for the piano, harp and voice in middle school, and first performed her original compositions in high school. More recently, she has played in the Massachusetts area and at Brown. She hopes to have a CD release concert in either Providence or Boston sometime in the fall so watch her website for details! Half Truths is Jen's debut album and contains 10 of her original songs, as well as two celtic tunes. The twelve tracks serve as a roadmap, bookended by one of her first compositions (Out of Service) and her most recent song (Valentine).
