Meditate, relax, do Yoga or inspire your creative senses with Celtic Journey by acoustic guitarist, Jim Goodin. 10 MP3 Songs NEW AGE: Celtic New Age, CLASSICAL: New Age Details: Composer-guitarist Jim Goodin travels through the passages of influence of many spirits in his music including the sadly missed Michael Hedges, Ralph Towner, minimalist composer Steve Reich, Irish bard O'Carolan, the weird brilliance of Bill Frisell and the beautiful, haunting music of jazz pioneer Bill Evans. "Stream of consciousness" - Tom Salvatori, Lullaby Music "Jim Goodin writes with sincerity. His music haunts while it paints beauty. Jim is in no hurry. He perfects his craft and plays in the moment. He does his "own thing" and that's the beauty in his art. You'll discover that Jim does not sound like other players. Its really fresh and original." - Rob Lunte, guitarist "I think your music has a real natural ease to it - very relaxed and musical." - Woody Mann, guitarist "His original compositions subtly recall influences such as Will Ackerman and Ralph Towner, but Goodin is no copycat, finding his own personal harmonic 'space' in the context of a solo guitar recording." - Guitar9 Records "That song 'For Michael' that you wrote for Michael Hedges is especially beautiful." - Joyce Oliveira, fan "Goodin succeeds with a bold endeavor to compose title an aural eulogy to artist Michael Hedges, who many progressive acoustic guitarists' worship. At the same time he has drawn a line on the fretboard for others to cross with his stunning Celtic/New Age creations." - MP3station, Artguitect Jim's beautiful CD, Celtic Journey to The Path, was released in October 1999.
