There are 10 tracks of moody instrumental music that take you on a trip..back to the 60s..a spy-thriller movie that never was.. The album is creating a wave through the industry..Why does the album sound so good? Mixed by hip producer Cameron Jenkins, producer of Lemon Jelly, The Verve, Badly drawn boy, to name a few. This is mature music perfect for a soundtrack, movie, or theme tune. Reviews: I guess Im gonna have to make something up as he never was Im not sure if I ever heard the music, but if I had ever heard it, it was one of the ONLY albums I would reach into my pocket for a tenner in this digital age of music..6 out a 5 Stars ***** Kai Motta High priest of rap Top British Bassman/singer John Bentley flips to the otherside of the coin. This contemporary album is fresh, uncomplicated simply beautiful. Bentleys original sound is groovy hip. A CD to create calm, friendly, atmosphere, as if John was himself in the room! Saxophonist. (Van Morrison) Its rare to find an album you can listen to first thing in the morning last thing at night. The music shows once for all that beneath the bluff northern exterior there beats a heart of glass! I just love the Waltz..The whole album has an air of tranquillity contentment but is never bland.
