Along with his soap opera roles, he was recently seen as Foster Wolfe with Chad Everett and Jennifer Love Hewitt on ABC's McKenna. He has guest-starred in many of your favorite TV shows such as Fantasy Island, Quincy, Battle Star Galactica, CHiPS, Buck Rogers, McClain's Law (with James Arness), and many others. O'Keefe's stage performances have included the roles of Billy Bigelow in Carousel, Curly in Oklahoma, Bobby in Stephen Sondheim's Company, as well as a string of dramatic roles in numerous award winning plays. As a singer and entertainer, his nightclub dates include Las Vegas and Reno. O'Keefe was a frequent guest on the Tonight Show with Johnny Carson and the popular Merv Griffin Show. He received rave reviews from his performances at the Mark Hopkins in San Francisco, the Coconut Grove in Los Angeles as well as the Four Seasons in Seattle. Here's what the LA Times said about Mr. O'Keefe: "...follows in the tradition of great singers like Tony Bennett". The San Francisco Chronicle had this to say: "...has the capacity to connect with his audience in a way that escapes most singers. Not just a great voice. Mr. O'Keefe's interpretive style breathes life into the lyrics..." Otmar Hehli, Director of Operations for RADISSON 'SEVEN SEAS' said, "His ability to capture his audience during a performance was remarkable." As an international recording artist with Moonstone International Records, he was invited to represent the United States as guest performer at festivals around the world, notably, The Castlebar Song Fest in Ireland and as the only American at the Puerto Rico Song Festival. Timothy just completed shooting a film with Sally Kellerman and Dyan Cannon called "The Boynton Beach Bereavement Club" which premieres in Spring of 2006. O'Keefe now resides in WESTERN NORTH CAROLINA. Visit him at timothyokeefe.net.
