Details: In 1997 Dale was asked to compose an accompanying soundtrack to a documentary film of the Himalayas. The film's producer/director was highlighting the beautiful colours of the wildlife, filming the colours of the rainbow from red to violet and magenta. Dale chose to record relative composition keys to match the colours of the film, thus giving each track a unique key. This is a world class recording that stands alone. Two years later Australian record label 'Holborne Australasia' signed Dale up and the album became known as 'Reef Magic'. The Australian Great Barrier Reef has a huge reputation around the world and 'Holborne' specializes in marketing Australia to the world. Dale's album 'Reef Magic' is perfectly suited for a world away from the human condition and stands alone as an iconic recording most used for meditation, yoga and sounds fantastic in the car!
