Start with funk, add some jazz. Mix with songs about love and bake till it grooves and makes you dance. Be sure to listen to #6. 12 MP3 Songs URBAN/R&B: Funk, JAZZ: Smooth Jazz Details: Once in a while you mix some elements and get something new that was better than you ever expected. That's the case with Gruve Nitro. Several years ago, Jeffrey B. Gibson and Steven Craig Jackson got together to do some songwriting. The result was Captured By Love. It had elements that reminded them of early funk grooves by Earth, Wind & Fire such as September. Both were amazed at how easily the tracks went down and how good they sounded. Even at this first step, the magic was already there. A seed was planted that would grow into Gruve Nitro. Steve and Jeff are both keyboardists and the writing sessions that followed would often consist of one of them, say Steve, sitting at a piano working on a new song idea. Without warning, the other, say Jeff, would have a brilliant idea and would very gently SHOVE Steve off the piano with cries of Move, Move! and pick up where Steve left off and vice versa. It was a strange recipe that worked, Jeff says. It worked so well that we recorded the album keyboards the same way. One of us would play down a verse and the other a chorus and bridge. By the time the album was complete, most of the songs had never been played through by either of us! Gruve Nitro has now released its brand new album, My Best to You. This album is all about love and joy. The lyrics talk honestly about relationships: that first chance meeting (Nobody But You), followed by the seasons of deep passion and trust, and a song about discovering that the trust was broken (Busted one of the the most fun breakup songs you'll ever hear!) They also wrote songs about connecting with God (If You're There and He Is the Way). Jeff says, If you're honest, life's more than Saturday night. And it's more than Sunday morning. Hopefully, it's a LOT more than Monday morning! When it came time to record, they had many great players they wanted to involve: three bass players (including Alex AI), four guitarists (including Ray Parker, Jr. of Ghostbusters fame) and two drummers (including Ambrosias drummer Burleigh Drummond). The incomparable Luis Conte played percussion. The brass section was headed up by trumpeters Michael Harris (of Phenix Horns fame, former horn section for Phil Collins and Earth, Wind Fire) and Bill Churchville (former member of Tower of Power). Vocals were performed by Steven Craig Jackson, his brother Ira Jackson and Jeffrey B. Gibson. The mix of elements was complete and something special had been born. It has qualities of some favorite recordings from the past, but is obviously something brand new that stands on its own. Give it a listen. Enjoy!
