Slide into your favorite Paris Cafe blend with James Cohen's newest release featuring a hypnotic swirl of flamenco, jazz, blues and world fusion. 9 MP3 Songs WORLD: Flamenco, LATIN: Flamenco Details: James Cohen, originally a rock guitarist for over twenty-five years, has worked with such greats as Mick Ronson and has written and arranged for several bands, winning major Canadian contests as a pop-rock songwriter. His newest CD, High Side of Low Down, released on Northern Blues records May 20th 2003 was produced by Richard Bell, and is available at stores everywhere. In 1999 James's guitar playing-as part of the group "Del Norte"-appeared on a compilation CD called "Puro Flamenco" which also featured Ottmar Liebert. This CD is available in all U.S. record stores on the Neurodisc label, as well as the 2002 release on Borealis records 6 Strings North Of the Border' featuring James Cohen's Flamenco piece, The Wind. Once he was exposed to the outstanding guitar playing of flamenco prodigies Paco De Lucia, Tomatito, and Miguel de la Bastide, there was no turning back for James. He worked day and night learning the complex and subtle rhythms of flamenco, and studied the lightning right-hand techniques of the Spanish gypsies. La Tormenta represents James's love of the more modern Flamenco without sacrificing the integrity and purity of a long and beautiful tradition. Performances James Cohen has made special guest appearances throughout Ontario and Quebec with both Tony D. and Sue Foley. He has been featured at the Montreal Jazz Festival and was the first Canadian band to play the Portsmouth New Hampshire Blues and Jazz Fest. VKO MundoBeat James's profound dedication to learning to play flamenco inspired him to invent the VKO MundoBeat, the world's only Flamenco and worldbeat metronome which is now being used by such world-renowned musicians as Ottmar Liebert, Tomatito, Jesse Cook, Badi Assad Menageria, Miguel de la Bastide, and many more.
