Acoustic guitar driven pop/rock. Mostly hand percussion with sparing guitar leads. I played all instruments, wrote all the songs and did all the singing. This was recorded in my small home studio. 7 MP3 Songs POP: Folkly Pop, ROCK: Acoustic Details: Music started for me in 4th grade when my parents made me take trombone in school. I began teaching myself guitar just before high school. I got a small scholarship from Indiana Wesleyan University on trombone and began studying Classical Guitar as a music major there. While in school there I picked up Tuba and began traveling for the school in the Honors Brass Quintet my second year. Throughout High School and College I played in nearly every band offered; marching band(trombone), jazz band(guitar, bass and trombone), pep band(bass and trombone)... Also while in college I met and started a Christian Rock band with Brad Wilkinson(drummer). Adding Jason Sandefur(Bass), Dave Osborne (guitar/primary songwriter) and Lionel Thompson (Lead Vocals/songwriter) we toured and recorded as Unbound and later Least of These. Generally a gig for us consisted of driving for at least six hours to play for a youth group somewhere and collect a "love offering" that would barely cover the cost of renting a trailer to haul our equipment. Life pulled that band apart but I think we all learned quite a bit about music and the business. Also I was lucky enough to eventually meet Brad's twin sister Shannon, now my wife of over ten years. She rules... Shannon and I moved to Colorado Springs for her career. While there I played lead guitar in the contemporary worship band at Hope Chapel. Scott Dontanville, the pastor, took a chance on me and groomed me to become one of the worship leaders. Tough gig because at the time I could barely sing let alone sing and play guitar. Hundreds of hours of woodshedding later I was finally comfortable singing and playing. I owe them more than I can say. Life and Shannon's career pulled us away from there too. I began playing guitar then leading worship here in Cedar Rapids, Iowa for Antioch Christian Church. I purchased an all in one recording unit and began dabbling in songwriting. Life/career pulled us from here too. This time to Kansas City. I continued recording and eventually worked up most of the cover songs I do today. A howl of "Yea! Play it again!" through our apartment wall introduced us to our neighbors Brom, Pete and Jeremy. To say they encouraged me to continue to persue performing and songwriting would be a massive understatement. Pete is a classically trained Cellist/music lover. He turned me on to Damien Rice, obvious choice for a Cellist... He and I began playing at a small coffehouse in KC fairly regularly. Life/career pulled us away from there too although we still get together for jams/parties and I hope to get Pete on some of my recordings soon. That brings us to now. All told over eighteen years on the guitar now and five or so writing songs. My friend Luke and I played the occasional coffehouse and bar here in Cedar Rapids until he moved away recently. Crazy life. I'd like to take music farther if I could just find the button to push for that to happen. For now I'm content to soak up as much life as possible and respectfully learn the craft of songwriting and home recording.
