somebody needed to try to pick up where hilt left off. 20 MP3 Songs ELECTRONIC: Industrial, FOLK: Power-folk Details: i personally like this album very very much. all the songs on it are quite great, and i suspect a few of them may go down in history as classics, or cult classics, or what have you. i could name each track and go into why i like it so much, but it's probably more to the point to just listen yourself and see what i mean. i just really really love this album, and what more can i say? ... on a side note one of the "nerolism goals" has always been to kind of try to pick up where Hilt left off with "journey to the center of the bowl" via their masterful blend of industrial, acoustic, and alternative music,,, anyway nerolism2 has attempted to blend these genres, however the end result became it's own creation entirely. at any rate, that's still a goal that i would like to see people aim for in their own way in the future, if the skinny puppy crew decides to never pick that old project back up. ok well ... enjoy the album!
