Details: Florence South Carolina native, Stephanie Fagan, began her musical career at North Greenville University in an all girl folk group called Flowers by Gert. After leaving college and getting fired from her day job stephanie hit the road, a self proclaimed vagabond, and began her solo career traveling the southeast. Those months of sleeping under the stars and on the couches of kind strangers enhanced her songwriting skills and grew stephanie as an artist. "I fell in love with the earth and the people in in it." Her first solo albumn "Ideas for Your Earbone" reflects her strong vocal and songwriting talents which have earned her a loyal and eclectic regional fanbase.
