Indie Rock, Indie Pop 8 MP3 Songs ROCK: Modern Rock, POP: Power Pop Details: The Color Bars are a Seattle based indie-pop band whose arrival on the scene just last year has been described as "a bigger breath of fresh air than an air vent in an underground sewer." As self-described melody addicts, they blend together Wilsonian (Brian, that is) harmonies with their own uniquely "confectious" melodic style to create something new and surprisingly fresh. Their songs range from foreboding laments on love via professional wrestling metaphors to anarcho-syndicalist folk chanties to the kind of glazed-eyed psychedelic soundscapes that even your mother would love. Much like their songs, their live show never disappoints. Every member sings in this band, which makes the already difficult challenge of not singing along practically impossible. Their smart and eclectic brand of indie music is something we've needed for awhile, and they've only just begun. Check out The Color Bars on the web at thecolorbars.com
