No, its not oil, its Emma Hill. The 19 year old singer songwriter has burst on to the national scene with her debut solo release, Just Me. This 12 track introspective record has some thing for everyone. Raised in the wilds of Alaska, in a village of 100, she had little else to do then listen to her parents record collection. The influences of Bob Dylan, Joni Mitchell, Joan Baez, and Neil Young can be heard coming through in her own unique style. After relocating to Portland Oregon in the fall of 2006, she has been taking the west coast by storm with constant touring. Her mix of folk, americana, alt country, jazz, and blues with a touch of pop sensibility has been resonating well with listeners, and comes through strong on her first solo album Just Me. Don't miss out on one of Americas fastest rising singer songwriters. -Kuskokwim Records
