21 songs of certified country and Americana music of various tempos of songs about real people by an artist of supreme talent. 21 MP3 Songs in this album (65:20) ! Related styles: COUNTRY: Traditional Country, BLUES: Country Blues People who are interested in Alan Jackson Merle Haggard Gene Watson should consider this download. Details: Mitch Snow is no ordinary singer-songwriter, nor is he an ordinary musician. It is evident that he was born into a realm above the simple talents of most. Nothing about him is ordinary! With his quiet smile and thoughtful, non-assuming manner, he might be mistaken for anyone but the explosive performer hes known for. However, when he takes the stage and the lights go down, it is quickly discovered why the house is packed to standing-room-only! His vocals rival anyone heard on the radio and he is totally in command of the stage. With his guitar and harmonicas, he keeps the crowd rocking and riveted in awe of his musical abilities! Linne Black, NSAI (Nashville Songwriters Association International)  This release contains some great original country material and when you hear SNOW singem, you know theyve been sung. His sound is, no doubt, influenced by GENE WATSON MERLE HAGGARD with shades of DAVID FRIZZELL - but with more range. All songs were recorded in Nashville, Tennessee and Thomasville North Carolina including these instruments: Fiddle, Steel Guitar, Acoustic Lead, Electric, Lead, Harmonica, Bass, and Drums with Harmony Vocals. As described by Honky Tonkin Music (Distributor in Texas).  MR. VERSATILE MITCH SNOW is a multi-talented singer, songwriter, musician, actor,producer, engineer and has been working professionally since the age of 12, when he first performed with his father and teacher, Jim Snow. Since that time, Mitch has captivated diverse audiences from Las Vegas to Saudi Arabia, Canada to Florida. He has performed as Hank Williams in the play "Lost Highways" to great reviews at the Barn Dinner Theater. He has opened for more than 40 national acts, including Marty Robbins, Tracy Byrd, Ronnie Milsap, Gene Watson, Joe

Diffie and Billy "Crash" Craddock, to name a few. If experience is the best teacher, Mitch has graduated from the right school. He owns and operates Mitch Snow Productions, where he produces and engineers sound tracks for songwriters and artists of various styles. He has also appeared on recordings by several top name artists in country music, and he sometimes performs for private and/or corporate venues. Also, he has the facility and expertise to record and design complete albums for commercial release. Additionally, he has written, produced and appeared in television advertisements. Mitch also stays busy with live concert performances, and has played on many records of various artists. For some projects, he provides all the instruments and vocals on recorded tracks. A normal day's work on stage or in the studio might include Mitch playing the acoustic rhythm guitar, lead guitar, bass guitar, drums, fiddle, mandolin, banjo, harmonica, piano, pedal steel, dobro and occasionally even a sax line. His performances may be solo or with a band depending on the occasion. He is an accomplished and seasoned musician. Mitch is truly Mr. Versatile. RGO Records is proud to release this third album by Mitch. These 21 songs are a collection of ballads, blues and songs with a Tex-Mex flavor. Mitch is adept at singing a wide variety of country songs. Listen to this variety and see if you agree. RGO Records are available at HonkyTonkinandCDBaby.com.
