Her amazing voice has been described as pure soul levitation. She's got great pop sensibility in her writing and thoughtful lyrics. 10 MP3 Songs POP: with Live-band Production, ROCK: Adult Alternative Pop/Rock Show all album songs: Why Would I Sing? Songs Details: From growing up on a farm in Pennsylvania to taking a solo backpacking trip across Europe to living in New York City; many experiences have colored the young life of Johanna. It is these experiences, coupled with every day life that she draws upon when writing her insightful lyrics and strong melodies. A classically trained soprano, Johannas equally adept pop sensibility never fails to wow her audiences. With an eclectic fusion of pop/folk/rock, Johanna maintains a sound all her own. Versatile and charismatic with a captivating stage presence, Johanna is a natural crowd-pleaser. She holds a Bachelors of Music in Vocal Performance from Syracuse University. It was there where she first taught herself to play the guitar as a writing tool for her songs and where she formed her first band. Now, living in Westchester County, New York, Johanna plays with a wide range of talented musicians from around the NYC area performing on an eclectic mix of instruments such as full horn sections and organ. She has recently been part of the M.E.A.N.Y. (Musicians Emerging Artists New York) Festival in New York City and the Millenium Music Conference in Pennsylvania alongside many other renowned artists. In addition to these special musical events, Johanna can be seen live, either acoustically or with a full band, at many great venues all over Connecticut, Pennsylvania and New York such as The Knitting Factory, The Bitterend and Arlenes Grocery to name a few. She has gained musical recognition with awards such as SingerUniverses Best Singer of the Month in April, 2006, and Billboard magazines songwriting contest recently acclaimed two of her songs, which were co-written with her lead guitar player Anthony Latt. Her loyal and enthusiastic fan base is growing along the East Coast and will surely continue to expand. With two well received EPs under her belt, Johanna continues her work in the studio. Her new, brilliantly produced, full length album entitled "Why Would I Sing?", containing an array of amazing songs, has now been released. It has gotten rave reviews by fans and critics alike.
