Paul Thomas Bobby Moon (2001) (From the 2001 Liner Notes) Introduction: I first received a copy of Spellbound's last CD, Funqueros a few years ago, and didn't pay much attention on seeing it, not because of any lack of merit, but because when you get at least 30 CDs a week - as any A&R person knows - it means audition drudgery, fast forwarding, tedious work; for every good CD there are at least five turkeys. But i was pleasantly surprised by Spellbound. Here was a really fun band, fronted by musicians who really knew music and knew how to play and produce. And, to my delight, there was plenty of clave, funk, and nice Latin grooves in the mix. So, here's Spellbound's long-awaited new album Respete El Pasado (Respect The Past). There are guest performances by flutist Artie Webb and other fine musicians including Plas Johnson Johnny Polanco, some great tunes, and lots of good dancing. I think they're a terrific outfit with a bright future. Put the new CD into your sound system and see if you don't agree. Tom Schnabel Caf LA/KCRW
