Details: TERRY EMM White Butterflies LongMan Records051CD Official UK Release 23rd February 2009 Reviews: 'Stunning...this is the best singer songwriter debut I have heard in a long while' 5 Stars - Maverick 'Striking debut from English troubadour. For a 19 year old, Emm's songs boast a remarkable maturity and poise' 3 Stars - Nigel Williamson, Uncut 'A record full of rural charm, pretty songs and sophisticated arrangements...something really special' 3 Stars - Rock N' Reel 'Englands new pastoral-folk prince...an accomplished mature writer, backed by the most gentle and thoughtful of settings...a charming debut in every sense' Americana UK The long awaited debut album from 19 year old Terry Emm is a quintessentially English collection of songs, written growing up in a small village. Terry's steadily growing band of admirers include Eliza Carthy who said: Just lovely. A lovely voice and lovely songs. ' Dove' is a killer song!. In 2007, singer songwriter Johnny Coppin awarded Terry the 'Folk Quest' award for song-writing and musicianship and invited Terry to perform live on his popular BBC 'Folk Roots' radio show and a handful of UK Festival and folk club appearances followed. Terry explains the White Butterflies title track is a love song: In my hometown of Leighton Buzzard I used to hang out by the river near the meadows. I used to walk down there with this girl. There always seemed to be an abundance of white butterflies. 'White Butterflies' will be released on Longman Records, a thriving independent label and community of musicians and artists led by label founder and album producer Richard Durrant. The label has also been responsible for popular albums by The Ukulele Orchestra of Great Britain, 60's busking legend Don Partridge and more recently Beach Boy's lyricist and collaborator Stephen J Kalinich.
