Music from Argentina, based on folk roots and rhythms, arranged in a contemporary style for guitar and violoncello. Featuring five of the most important songwriters in the country (Aguirre, Fandermole, Diaz, Ortiz and Zabzuk) 15 MP3 Songs in this album (73:21) ! Related styles: WORLD: Folklore, JAZZ: World Fusion People who are interested in Pat Metheny should consider this download. Details: Dante Ascaino: Guitar, Composition and Arranging Eugenia Menta: Violoncello This duo presents an out of the ordinary instrumental combination playing some extraordinary music from Argentina. Powerful rhythms like the chacarera and chamam combined with the beauty and melancholy of melodies from the litoral, a landscape dominated by the great Paran River. This second release from Ascaino-.Menta features five of the most remarkable present-day songwriters from their homeland, singing their own tunes. Carlos Negro Aguirre, Mario Diaz, Jorge Fandermole, Coqui Ortiz and Sylvia Zabzuk contribute two compositions each, wonderfully arranged by Dante Ascaino for the duo. Other guests are the Numen String Quartet, percussionist Martin Bruhn and bandonen and accordion virtuoso Julio Ramrez, adding their own magic to the whole. The result is a music deeply rooted in the sounds, rhythms and folklore originated in Argentinas rural areas, but treated with modern chamber-music sophistication. The CD includes an interactive segment with more pictures, all the songs lyrics, info about the projects concept and guests (with links to their own home pages) and, of course, more about the duo. This is a must-hear for anyone interested in finding an exciting, fresh new sound. Music you have not heard before, and will stay on your CD player more than you thought.
