Adult contemporary singer-songwriter 19 MP3 Songs POP: Folky Pop, FOLK: Power-folk Details: Dave Tutin is a New York-based, British-born singer-songwriter. Raised In Vain is thirteen tracks recorded with some of the finest musicians in New York. Larry Campbell after years on the road with Dylan is here on pedal steel guitar, mandolin, lap steel and violin. Shawn Pelton, described by Dave as "the most musical drummer I've ever worked with". And a host of others including Eric Weissberg who adds his haunting pedal steel guitar to 'America' a subtly powerful comment on the state of our nation. But what brings all these fine players together superbly produced by Craig Snyder who also adds his eloquent guitar skills are the songs. A lyricist who in his own words is "like a young man running in an old man's shoes" Dave's songs quickly explain why such a gifted group of players wanted to record them. Free with Raised In Vain comes a second, six-track album called Afterthought. With the exception of some deft touches of piano and cello, this is an acoustic set featuring Dave and Craig. As a songwriter who has "hopefully lived long enough to have thrown away the bad stuff" Dave is clearly fooling with us when he left out the space songs like these only come after thought. Serious thought. For more, go to daveutin.com
