Luciano is currently teaching middle school Spanish while finishing his Master's Degree in Education. Bryan and Luciano began their collaboration in 2003 when they taught first grade together for the Lane County Migrant Education Summer School. They integrated music in the classroom to support the learning of core curriculum. Rockin Amigos grew out of Bryans proclivity for writing new songs to teach academic content. Luciano brought his music experience to the task of producing and recording music that Bryan then field tested with his K-5 students. Students, parents, teachers and school administrators have enthusiastically responded to the music and methodology. As a business Rockin Amigos seeks to make a significant impact on education through several avenues: 1) retail sales of our quality music CDs and print resources, 2) staff development, teaching teachers how to teach content through rhythm and music, 3) school assemblies and other performances, 4) fund raising for schools through sales of Rockin Amigos CDs and print resources to students, 5) special recordings including participation of the children, and 6) donating 10 of profits to support education in developing countries.
