Track after track is hit after hit material. The song writing craft is pop perfection without equal. Their professional style, self-production shows that they know their way around the studio as well as around the songs. Where are the so-called geniuses of the music world when a band like this, as talented in the craft of music composition, can slip by without acknowledgment? Well, screw the corporate shirts, their studies, their surveys, and their demographics. Im here to point the way and tell you that if you enjoy Pure Pop perfection coupled with ultimate Alt. Country that harkens back to the birth of Rock-n-Roll when The Beatles married skiffle and blues to harmonies and hooks to create Pop as we know it, then look no further than Through The Eyes by The Naomi Star. "From the title track and carrying through until the end, we get song after song of pristine pop, vocal harmonic perfection, classic purist production, and ultimate song writing tales of Love, longing, want, need, romanticism, and escapism - just to name a few subjects of what we come to know and love pop/alt. country music for. "As an independent band from a musically overlooked part of the country, The Naomi Star have crafted the pinnacle of pop/Alt. Country perfection that most major artist bands would have to wait a career to produce. Dont wait for the commercial entities to try to explain to you why they overlooked one of the masterpieces of the early millennium, sink your ears into Through The Eyes and be content to know that it doesnt take a media machine to acknowledge great songwriting."
