

MP3 Tupelo Kenyon - Wooden Voices

Original, melodic finger-picking compositions featuring 6 and 12-string acoustic guitars, accompanied by other wooden instruments: dulcimer, hammered dulcimer, mandolin, violins and percussion. 15 MP3 Songs EASY LISTENING: Background Music, FOLK: Gentle Details: Acoustic guitar finger-picking is the main wooden voice on this eclectic collection of spirited instrumentals. Sometimes joyous. Sometimes reflective. Whether gracefully complex or simply beautiful, this music speaks from the heart . . . gently . . . clearly . . . sincerely. This original music is simply arranged so the warmth, depth and subtlety of the acoustic guitar is not lost. There are several other wooden voices joining in that add variety and interest including mandolin, dulcimer, hammered dulcimer, harmonica, banjo, 12-string guitar, acoustic bass guitar, tele guitar, didgeridoo, twin fiddles, classic violin and percussion. The mellow wooden instrumentation is both relaxing and rejuvenating . . . a satisfying pick-me-up that simply makes you feel good. Naturally. Most of the instruments were played by Tupelo Kenyon who had a little help from his friends: Janey Kenyon - dulcimer, hammered dulcimer, percussion, vocal textures, photos, Ann Tolstedt - vocal textures, Dave Munsick - twin fiddles, Jim Ballantyne - bodhran, and Nick Birchby - violin (a real 1726 Stradavarius!)
