Details: York Pennsylvania native, Adrian Dylan Chandler, is releasing his first full length album which showcases his songwriting talents with songs of riddled relationships leading from love to angst and everywhere in between. The album was produced by A.D.s friend and old band mate turned Hollywood producer, Al Sgro. Some Days are Better than None brings a plethora of instrumentation to the table. A.D. covers the guitars, blues harp and soulful vocals, while Ed Maxwell (of Meiko) brings the low end and engineering. The album features a host of guest appearances by: Steve Mazur (of Our Lady Peace) on guitars, Ben Peeler (of Shakira) on lap steel, Michael Starr (of Ryan Bingham) on the fiddle, Holly Conlan sang harmonies, Al Sgro on drums, keys, and harmonies, and Pete Richards (of American Bitch) on sax, mandolin, and harmonies. You can catch A.D. playing these songs and many others throughout several venues in Central Pennsylvania.
