Details: Laura is a Chicago-based children's musician and award-winning producer with an ear for a catchy melody. Armed with her acoustic guitar, she has written and recorded three albums for the folk-pop listener (solo and with Sweet Hello), and her newest CD called "KIDS IN THE CITY" released in May 2009. She teamed up again with award-winning producer Rich Rankin (Wiggleworms Love You, 2005) on this recording. Doherty received the prestigious CAAP cultural arts grant awarded by the City of Chicago, to help fund this CD. "Kids in the City" is a collection of original songs for the urban toddler. Doherty writes about skyscrapers, the zoo, the farmer's market and more, and even writes about city sites unique to Chicago, with her song about the El Train and a Chicago-style Hot Dog. Laura teaches and is the director of the Old Town Schools of Folk Musics wildly popular early-childhood Wiggleworms program in Chicago. Lauras has recorded on several childrens CDs, including: Parents Choice award-winning Songs for Wiggleworms released in 1999. In 2005 she co-produced and performed on the follow-up CD Wiggleworms Love You, also a Parents Choice Award winner. Catch her playing and singing Mary Had a Little Lamb and I Can Sing a Rainbow, as well as lending harmonies on many other tracks. Both CDs can be found on iTunes. In 2008, Laura provided vocals on several tunes written by nationally-known kids artist Ralph Covert, for the Disney Sound label. These songs are being used in the Disney English school in Shanghai, helping to teach English to Chinese children. Laura fits in time to rock out with her kids band The Swing Sets, on vocals and electric bass. The band is rounded out with fellow Old Town School teachers Rob Newhouse on vocals and electric guitar, and Eric Delli Bovi on drums.
