Details: A Note From the Artist: I'm really proud of this album, it's been three years in the making and drove me nearly insane but listening through it now (and it is an album for listening to in one go as each track relates directly to the last and the whole thing makes more sense that way) I feel like I managed to make exactly the album I wanted - even though I didn't know that was what I wanted when I started recording tracks for it three years ago. There's lots of interesting melodies, some highly original instrumentation and I like to think that the lyrics are pretty top drawer too. Still, the reality is that I was trying to capture raw emotion in sound and as a result some songs are perhaps a little on the challenging side. That said though, I really do think there are glittering treasures to be found here for those who enter bravely and in the spirit of musical adventure.
Enjoy! Best Regards, MO
