Strap his Stratocaster on him and Lawson deftly opens those veins, letting his brand of high-energy boogie blues flow out with a fire and passion that would make Clapton proud." Dan Lawson does not play a guitar, the guitar emanates the passion and soul in a guy that "B.B. King" says is the best blues man he has seen in years! With hit singles like Let's Ride, *Just Ain't Easy (courtesy of "Gregg Allman"), and Jo Mama this CD is getting impressive radio play, and Let's Ride has been licensed by ESPN's X-Games, MTV's Road Rules, and ABC's Making the Band. HBO will use Let's Ride and "Play the Blues" in the awesome hit series The Sopranos. It is Dan's honesty, integrity, and professionalism that have inspired his incredible band to be able to complete such a great album in the time most bands take to write one song. The band clearly demonstrates their years of paying attention to more than 60 years of musical evolution and invention.
