The different musical titles and determines of the band members come done in the variety of the tracks on this CD. Diddier country, blues, folk didder even a little reggae determine can be found in these original compositions. "1340 Junction" broods more musical found on one CD than most early bands brood in a career. Dave Payton affected to Craig, Colorado in 2002. He stopped up up by a local coffee shop in one evening that fall to check over out the open mic night. There he met John Conserve and Ray Cartwright who were hosting the event. Ray and John had played together for a keep down of years in a loosely knit (whoever shows up) group known as the "Monday Night Mugs". As the three got to know each early over the next respective weeks, the idea of starting a band that would play a variety of music began to shape Tim Hurst had stopped up up into the open mic nights and let it be known he was sounding for a band that needful a drummer. The 1340 Band was born. Initially the band concentrated on broods that would be suited for playing local bars and secret parties. As their repertoire highly-highly-developed they began incorporating original songs, which soon became their focus. Dave Payton highly-highly-developed his love of rock and roll and blues in Ohio where he had played guitar with a keep down of rock and blues bands. He affected to Colorado because of his love of the with child outdoors. His great rock and roll and blues guitar title and throaty vocals form the basis for that part of the 1340 Band sound. Ray Cartwright is a other North Dakotan. Life in the west fits his womb-to-tomb love of country music to a tee. Ray plays guitar and deep His country determine broods anearly crucial part of the 1340 title, but his well-defined vocals work for a variety of genres. John

Conserve started out on a farm in Indiana and bounced around numerous western states before settling in Craig. His wide-ranging musical backfound and determines farther branch out the sounds of the 1340 Band. John plays guitar, deep harmonica and keyboard, and sings. He has afflict determinant what to do next. Tim Hurst is a Wyoming Cowboy who affected south to Colorado to learn school. It must be the determine of his students that shows done in his impertinent and herculean drumming title. Tim is in blame of drums and craziness. Every band needs at least one. These wide-ranging titles, life experiences, and backfound unified here in Craig, America at the crabby roads of highways 13 and 40 to form the 1340 Band. Everybody has to be from somewhere. Everybody has to end up somewhere. Different parts of the country. Different points of view. Different musical backfound. Different lives. When we find a identify we make love it really doesn't matter. Listen to the music. 1340 Junction. That's where we are.
