Power Pop to Beatle-esque to Riff Rock - Zero Points For Zeus is the guitar-centric follow up to Ferenzik's Wheel of Nesh. Another piece of the jigsaw puzzle falls into place... 15 MP3 Songs ROCK: Psychedelic, POP: Quirky Details: Whether serving as a sideman with Todd Rundgren or sitting in with friends in Jefferson Starship, Ferenzik has always given it his best. Those who have caught him performing live will attest to his understated yet total commitment to the music, whether it be as a guitarist, keyboardist or backing vocalist. As a solo artist, Ferenzik demonstrates that same commitment to the muse, creating music that takes the listener on a voyage filled with unanticipated twists. Those familiar with the compelling fusion-instrumental music contained on his first two CDs (WILD MAN OF BORNEO, DEVIL'S PLAYGROUND) already know about the wild ride. And those who have sampled his third release WHEEL OF NESH have tasted fine power pop from a true individualist. Is this indeed the same person? Yep. ZERO POINTS FOR ZEUS is Ferenzik's follow up to the psych-rock coming out party WHEEL OF NESH. And he's not resting on his laurels. From the first fuzz-box onslaught of "Waiting in the Dark" to the XTC-ish whimsy of "Dandelion" to the wailing power guitar in "Painted in the Rain" and "Wall Of Shame," Ferenzik demonstrates a passion and dedication to his left of center vision - more tersely put, he rocks it. There's also a cover of the Rundgren/Nazz classic "Some People" where Ferenzik injects just the right amount of reverence while rediscovering this little power-pop gem. And while Ferenzik sings, plays guitar, lays down bass, thumps drums and presses keys throughout ZERO POINTS FOR ZEUS, there are some other fabulous guests at the party. There's some great drumming, found in the persons of PRAIRIE PRINCE (The Tubes) and VAN ROMAINE (Enrique Inglesias, Steve Morse), and deep solid bass coming from CHICO HUFF (Solas, Jefferson Starship), among others. But that's just a little overview of the 15 tracks contained in ZERO POINTS FOR ZEUS. Hearing is believing.
