Strategies and Tactics for the First Year Law Student gives you a detailed step-by-step program for surviving the first year of law school. The pressures of law school - Effective techniques for handling the stress created by classmates, professors, and huge reading assignments. Your law professor's personality - Understanding how your professor thinks can help ensure good grades. The Internet - Tips for using the Internet as a law school resource. Study and class preparation - How to make the most of study time and the traps to avoid. Note-taking - Well-written notes can make reviewing and outlining less demanding. Effective briefing - The best way to prepare for being called on in class is to learn to extract the important and relevant elements from cases. Outlining - Successful outlining can improve exam results enormously. Memory Aids - How class memory systems work and when you should (and shouldn't) use them. Taking Exams - Comprehensive guidelines for writing exceptional exam answers.
