A sweet, soaring voice, catchy hooks and thoughtful, emotionally-charged lyrics come together to create this sophisticated acoustic folk-pop think Shawn Colvin meets Aimee Mann meets Lucy Kaplansky. 12 MP3 Songs FOLK: Folk Pop, POP: Folk Pop Details: With a sweet, soaring voice, catchy hooks and thoughtful, emotionally-charged lyrics, singer/songwriter Sharon Edry has only just begun to make her mark on the New York City music scene. Her sophisticated brand of acoustic pop is steadily garnering a following of listeners eager for the lyrical substance and strong musicianship they miss on commercial radio. In the spirit of songwriters like Natalie Merchant and Lucy Kaplansky, Sharon is most comfortable in that fruitful territory where folk and pop intertwine. A long-time Manhattan resident and Long Island native, Sharon grew up as a suburban kid in love with ballet, books and Billy Joel. Today, she pours her passion into songwriting, yielding intelligent, melodic and bittersweet songs of love, rejection, identity and independence in the city she loves best.
