Details: Four lost North American souls searching for a bit of good rock and roll in Japan put this album together. And you know what? It turned out pretty good. The sounds on this album were created, recorded, produced, reproduced, adjusted, tweaked, honed, mixed, remixed, screwed up, digitized, sanitized, squeezed, taped, spliced, ironed, bent, slapped, smashed and gussied up with an assortment of gear. Some of the key guilty parties are: Marshall, Gibson, Fender, Zidjian, Martin, Neumann, Avalon, Joe Meek, Rode, AKG, Sony, TC Electronics, EMU-ENSONIQ, my Dad's Japanese guitar, Asahi Beer, a bottle of Sake. Produced by Stephen McKnight and James Steiner.
